24 PSYCHOLOGY DRIVEN HEADLINE TEMPLATES

THE PEN PIVOT

Fact:

A headline makes or breaks your content.

If it doesn’t get clicked, it doesn’t get read or viewed.

No matter how many hours you spent making it.

A headline that doesn't instantly grab attention will get overlooked.

Great headlines are also crucial for ranking on both Google and YouTube, as well as for social shares.

Most creators don’t spend enough time on their headlines and miss out on valuable clicks (and revenue) as a result.

Solution:

Our 32 psychology-driven headline templates.

They're not just catchy.

They're engineered to intrigue, persuade, and attract clicks based on proven psychological principles.

How to Use These Headline Templates:

- Crafting New Content: Use these templates as a starting point for your headlines. Tweak them to fit your topic.
- Revamping Old Posts: Give your existing content a fresh, more clickable face by updating the headlines.
- A/B Testing: Experiment with different headlines to see which works best for engagement and click-through rates.

Enjoy.
